Ending Formulas-Personal Narrative

A satisfying ending to a piece of writing, lets your reader know the end is coming without using the words, "THE END". If you find yourself unable to think of a way to end your piece, perhaps one of the four ideas below may help you. The phrases after each type of ending shows you one suggestion for how you might start.

A memory

I'll always remember the time I..

A hope

I sure hope the next time...

A change of heart

From now on, when I see... I feel...

A decision

I know one thing for sure. The next time.... I'm going to.....
